

Lexical Classifier (Receipt)

This is a document indicating work on a project without exposing the details. Between March 23rd 2023 up to and continuing past July 21st 2023, I worked on a project where an algorithm could be used to identify whether text was written by either a Human or a Large-Language Model (LLM) such as Chat-GPT. This project is only in the experimental phases ("unfinished") but it shows promise. I've worked on it on weekends, after work and on days off, thereby constituting the major body of my work between March and July. I've created this receipt to reflect that, but cannot show the project due to it potentially being a useful technology.
